Cross Examination of Mr. Beecher

NEW YORK, August 14.—Beecher in his cross examination yesterday explained how he was induced to contribute $5,000 to extricate Tilton from pecuniary difficulties. This was effected through the agency of Moulton. In explanation of certain letters and parts of letters heretofore published Beecher said:

Q.—In your letter of that date to Moulton this occurs: "Would to God who orders all hearts that by his kind mediation Theodore and Elizabeth and I could be made friends again. Theodore will have the hardest task in such a case." What did you mean by that last sentence?

A.—It is all a muddle to me as I do not recall the precise wording to my mind. I have no vivid recollection of making up of the letter or the precise words in which I wrote it. I cannot give a reason for the sentence.

Q.—I call your attention to it because criticism is made in certain quarters that it referred to Mr. Tilton's marital trouble growing out of your offense. Isn't it going back to friendship? Isn't it a restoration of the family? What you ask for is that you three may be made friends again, that we should all co-operate, and you say "Theodore will have the hardest task."

A.—There was a family that by circumstances had been brought to bitterest antagonisms at a time of most profound adversity, when Tilton had got to struggle for his livelihood, for his name, for his position and for his household. Everything put together he was in a situation in which he had got to exert himself in every way for restoration in every manner and point. It was necessary that she should co-operate with him as well as with his friends. If she had her sorrow to bear at home, he had his, too. That is what I think it likely may have suggested those words, but I don't say that it is, because I don't remember. Elizabeth, you know, was at times immensely bitter against Theodore and felt that she had been the aggrieved one. I had been led to suppose that she had not been anything like so much aggrieved as I now suppose she has been.

Q.—In the same letter of [illegible] February you say: "Of course I can never speak with her again without his permission, and I do not know that even then it would be best." Why did you say that?

A.—Because either at the time of that letter from Mr. Bowen or in its immediate vicinity Tilton, as I have an impression now, sent word by Bowen, though I cannot be sure of that, forbidding me ever to enter his house again.

Q.—Nothing else?

A.—No. I know I frequently said I wish I was dead, and Theodore Tilton never said he wished he was dead, and Mr. Moulton was frequently in a state in which he wished he was dead, and Mrs. Moulton said, "I am living among friends [illegible] one of whom wishes he were dead," or something like that. I do not know but it was smarter than that, but she put it in a way that was very [illegible]. Every one of us used to be echoing the wish that we were dead and plagued, and I used the familiar phrase "I wish I was dead."

Q.—Outside gossip is that you referred in that line to contemplated suicide.

A.—It was not so. My general purpose was this and I kept it as a matter of life by patient continuance in well doing, to put to shame those who falsely accused me. I meant to put down and preach down this trouble. Of course in my dismal [illegible], I felt as though the world had come to an end.

Q.—You say in the same letter: "He had been enjoined most earnestly and solemnly not to betray his wife." In what respect?

A.—Not to [illegible] this whole difficulty into which the household had been cast. Consider how it is. I appeal to every sensitive man and cultivated nature in the world if any greater evil can befall than to have a woman and wife and mother made a subject of [illegible] litigation as respects her moral character. For no greater harm can befall a woman than to be [illegible] about from house to house with discussion as to the grade of the offense and the probable nature of the offense and the cause of the [illegible] and everything about it. Next to stabbing a woman dead is to talk of her virtue; and if the public suppose that in order to interpret these letters, I must resort to vulgar physical gross indignity, then they are living on a plane where I do not live. You must remember I was aware that in addition to the trouble involving my name Tilton had also in an act of jealousy accused his wife of criminal intimacy with several gentlemen, of whom I was one. He has asserted in the presence of witnesses that all her children except the first were children of these gentlemen respectively. In his decent moods he was very anxious to have such accusations unknown to the world, as a mere rumor of them would cast an ineffaceable blight upon his children. Nothing would have induced me to make this explanation but that Tilton has deliberately chosen to cast a blight of precisely the same kind upon those very children. His subsequent course, and all that is left to me is the power to speak of his abominable accusation with the scorn which such a horrible falsehood deserves.

Q.—"I have a strange feeling upon me that I am spending my last Sunday and preaching my last [illegible]." Do you refer to the same condition of [illegible] that you have described?

A.—I refer to the fact simply that that was my state of mind during this great trouble, although if you were to collect all the language I have used at various times it might produce an impression that I had wallowed in a sea of unparalleled distress. I have had stormy days and have suffered more from [illegible] than all other causes in my life put together. Taking the years together I have had more religious peace and more profound insight into the wants and sufferings of man since I have become acquainted with trouble and despair. I have had experience in other regions of Christian life. It is worth all the sorrow and suffering that I have had to go through to get it.

On the point of his relations with Woodhull he was asked:

Q.—Are you clear in your recollection that you never met Woodhull more than three times?

A.—I am perfectly clear. On one occasion I was walking with Mr. Moulton in the direction of Tilton's house when he said Mrs. Woodhull was going to be there. I at first hesitated and he said, "Come in and just see her." I said very well. I went in and after some conversation down in the parlors I went up stairs into the famous boudoir room where she sat waiting, and like a spider to the fly she rushed to me on my entrance and reached out both her hands with the utmost earnestness, and said how rejoiced she was to see me. I talked with her about five minutes and then went down stairs. My second interview with her was on an occasion when I had been with some twenty or thirty gentlemen to look at the warehouse establishment of Woodruff & Robinson. We were on a steamer that had been chartered for the occasion and when I came up Moulton said, "Come with me to town." He never told me there was to be any company. When I came there I learned there was to be something in New York in the evening and that there was to be a number of literary ladies present, among whom was Woodhull. I was placed at the head of the table near Mrs. Moulton. Mrs. Woodhull was next to me or else she was first and I was next, I do not remember which. At that table she scarcely deigned to speak to me. I addressed a few words to her from politeness during dinner, but there was no sort of enthusiasm between us. My third and last interview was at Moulton's house. She had addressed to me a threatening letter saying that she would open all the scandal if I did not preside at Steinway Hall, and in reply Moulton advised that instead of answering her letter I should see her and say without witnesses what I had to say. I did so. She brought with her her great subject. It was in type, and my policy was to let her talk and say little, which I did, and she went on saying, "You know you believe so and so." I said nothing, and so on from point to point until I said at last, "Mrs. Woodhull, I do not understand your views. I have never read them thoroughly, but as far as I do understand them I do not believe them, and though I am in favor of free discussion yet presiding at meetings is a thing I seldom do for anybody, and I shall not do it for you, because I am not in sympathy with your movement."

Q.—Has Mrs. Woodhull any letters of yours in her possession?

A.—Two, I suppose, unless she has sold them.

Q.—Upon what subject?

A.—She inclosed a letter to me with one from my sister, Mrs. Hooker, inviting me to be present at a suffrage convention at Washington. To that letter I replied briefly that I never made but few statements in respect to my views on women voting. The other was just before her scandalous publication. She wrote to me a whining letter saying her reformatory movements had brought upon her such odium that she could not procure lodgings in New York, and that she had been turned out of the Gilsey House, I think, and asking me in a very significant way to interpose my influence or some other relief for her. To that letter I replied very briefly, saying I regretted when anybody suffered persecution for the advocacy of their sincere views, but that I must decline interference.

Q.—In the statement which you have made and in the letters you have published you express great agitation, sorrow and suffering, even to anguish. How do you reconcile that with the tone of your public ministrations and with the declarations of peace and trust which have fallen from you from time to time in the lecture room?

A.—I explain this precisely in the same way as I do the words of Paul, who said that he died daily; that he was the offscouring of the earth, having [illegible] the church and yet all this burden on his mind. He described himself as living in the most transcendent religious peace and joy that stands on record in human literature. The first effect of these troubles to me was most painful and depressing, but after a little calmness and by the power of the Holy Ghost my mind was lifted above these things and I came to myself. It is my business as a man and minister to live up to the doctrines I have been preaching. I have always been telling people how to manage sorrow and telling men how to bear up under their troubles. I [illegible] that I would not flinch, whine or sit down. I would stand up, and I did not care how much the Lord piled on me. I believed He would not put on me more than I could bear. I came to it and took work [illegible] for it offered and [illegible] through it and grow strong under it, and at [illegible] have had experiences of joy and resignation and comfort which I had never known before in all my life. And in [illegible] of this trouble I can say truly, that I am better capable of interpreting the comfort of the word of God to distressing hearts than ever I should have been had I not passed through this discipline. I have lost children. I have lost brothers. I have had many friends who have died, and some who would not die; and yet under all this I have never measured how long was the shadow of my life. I never put a question to myself, only this: whether I was higher or lower than other Christian ministers. To be called the first preacher in America or in the world is only throwing a shadow at me. I have but one feeling about this, and that is that just as long as I live every particle of strength and imagination and feeling and reason and body and soul I give to my country and to my kind, and that is all. I have never had better health than I have to-day. I do not think the machinery is worn out yet, and I do not propose to be idle. I shall do again what I did in the beginning of my life. I never asked anybody for permission to work and I shall not ask anybody now. The channels I am now working in may blow here or there, but I propose to work fifty years yet.

A Servant Girl Brought into the Case

NEW YORK, August 15.—A reporter alleges that Tilton denied to him having received money from Beecher. If Beecher contributed to the Golden Age he did so in common with other men without his knowledge. He affirmed that a hired girl in the household discovered the criminality between Beecher and his wife and began to spread it, whereupon Beecher had her sent away to a boarding school where he maintained her.

That Servant Girl's Story

NEW YORK, August 15.—It is stated in the Brooklyn Eagle that this servant girl business will wear another complexion when the story of the girl now in possession of the Plymouth Church Investigating Committee is made public. The allegation is that Tilton, not Beecher, was interested in her removal from Brooklyn. She was an adopted child in Tilton's house, taken when an infant and always treated as a member of the family. During the absence of Mrs. Tilton this adopted daughter left the house, and on Mrs. Tilton's return related to her occurrences leading to that act. After a while the story crept out, and Mrs. Tilton was sent by Mr. Tilton to more than one house to deny it, and finally finding it did not die easily the girl was induced by them to sign a statement denying what were called the wicked stories set on foot against Tilton. After this retraction was obtained Tilton had the girl sent West to school, and Francis D. Moulton paid her tuition and board bills. This is the girl's own story as she told it to the Committee, to her school teacher and Mr. Shearman.

Beecher's Long Vacation.

Beecher left for Peekskill this morning, and Mrs. Beecher says she does not think he will return before October.

The Argus states that Frank Moulton will speak, that he will do as General Butler advised him, "Come in last."

Halliday to the Front

NEW YORK, August 15.—Assistant Pastor Halliday of Plymouth Church has in his possession the record of a conversation two years ago with Tilton and Moulton in which both denied in the strongest terms that there was any truth whatever in Woodhull's scandal about Beecher. Moulton particularly denounced the scandal as utterly baseless and as not possessing the least shadow of truth.

Tilton's Suit

NEW YORK, August 15.—Tilton's law suit is in the hands of his counsel. The summons and complaint are ready and instructions are that they be served early next week.

First Dispatch over the Brazilian Cable

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The first dispatch received from Rio De Janeiro by cable, is from Admiral Le Roy, who has just relieved Admiral Strong of the command of the South Atlantic station. He announces the condemnation, through a naval survey, of the Monongahela and asks that relief may be sent out.

CANADA.

MONTREAL, August 15.—A house in St. Joseph street in course of erection fell to-day, burying four workmen, three of whom are seriously injured, and the fourth is not expected to live.

Four more of the victims of the Southeastern railway accident are not expected to recover. The storm which occasioned the accident was the most severe ever known to have occurred in Sutton township. It rained for two hours, and the whole valley for eleven miles was inundated, and five railway and twenty highway bridges were destroyed. The loss to the railroad is very heavy. The crops were also considerably damaged. It is thought that a water spout burst in the hills, as rain could not have produced so terrible a volume of water.

A Strange Attempt at Murder

TORONTO, Ont., August 15.—Thursday night a terrible attempt at double murder was made at Guelph. A man named Hazel threatened to shoot his daughter, a girl of 16, if he found her again in male company. Being informed on Thursday that she was with a man on the Arlington Grey and Bruce railroad track, he went out and shot at the man and girl, inflicting probably fatal wounds. On reaching them he discovered that they were not the guilty pair, but a man named Hurley and Mary Calvin. Hazel fled and has not since been captured.

Movements of Spanish Armies

LONDON, August 15.—A special dispatch to the Times from South Spain states that Marshal Zabala, with 24,000 men and [illegible] guns, left Miranda on Thursday with a command for the relief of Vittoria, which is very closely besieged by the insurgents. The Carlists oppose this march at intrenched positions. At Pueblo, Gen. Morionez awaits the result of Zabala's movement, when a united attack will be made upon the Carlists at Estella.

COMPARISON OF FREIGHTS

[From the Willamette Farmer.]

We have so much at stake in the single item of freights that the problem of transportation occupies a most prominent position in both the future of our commerce and our agriculture. We are directly on the seaboard, it is true, and the ocean is the common highway, and to some extent the common carrier of the world. Ocean freights can always be brought to a comparatively low figure, while the cost of land carriage bars transportation of such great staples as wheat to any great distance, or such has seemed to be the case heretofore; but the present rates of carriage from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic seaboard give the West all the facilities it can ask at a price too reasonable to question. We copy from the Chicago Tribune of late date a statement which shows that we are left far behind the people of Iowa in facilities for transportation, and our vicinity to the ocean does not offer us such cheap freighting as railroad is insure for the farmers of the prairied West.

The Tribune says:

Farmers and others who are disposed to complain nowadays must look up something besides the through freights on grain. Here is what it costs to send a bushel of wheat from Chicago to New York:

Steam from Chicago to Buffalo	2⅞c
Elevating at Buffalo	⅝c
Rail from Buffalo to New York	8c
	11½c

It will better enable the inquisitive to understand how marvelously cheap this is to tell them that the Erie Canal tolls on grain are 3.2 cents, or more than the lake freights all the way from Chicago to Buffalo. They will then begin to comprehend that there is something besides railway monopoly to grumble about. The freight to Liverpool is proportionately low. After paying 11½ cents to get the wheat to New York, it costs 3 cents for handling in that city, and 6½d. or about 14 cents to transport from New York to Liverpool. This makes the total cost from Chicago to Liverpool less than 28½ cents. If grain in Liverpool holds a fair price the prospect for the farmers this year seems to be all they can reasonably demand.

Reduce the above charges to coin, and the total cost for transporting wheat from Chicago to Liverpool is not more than one third what the farmers of Oregon pay for sending their wheat from Portland to Liverpool, so that the Iowa or Illinois wheat grower has an advantage of not less than fifty cents per bushel over us—an advantage that is scarcely recompensed by the superior capacity of our soil to produce wheat and a better quality of wheat. All charges commencing with ocean freight at $25 per ton and including interest and insurance make a total of about 90 cents per bushel cost for shipping wheat from Portland to Liverpool, while the same items from Chicago to Liverpool can hardly exceed 30 cents.

We have the ocean convenient to our doors, but we cannot utilize it to such advantage as they can where commerce is more reciprocal, and where both railroads and vessels find freighting to employ them in passing both ways across the sea as well as the continent.

A WOMAN CHEATED AND INSULTED IN A PUBLIC CONVEYANCE

JEFFERSON, August 16, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There was a little transaction this week on the railroad between this place and Albany in which one Stephens, conductor on the train, so conspicuously acted the ungentlemanly part that he deserves public notice. A lady in charge of two little girls of twelve and thirteen years old sent them to the depot at this place to procure tickets for themselves to Albany. The agent gave one of the little girls a full fare ticket, assuring her it would answer as a half fare ticket for the two. The lady went aboard the train. The conductor called for tickets and the little girl gave the full ticket. The irate conductor demanded full tickets for each. The lady sought to explain, when the conductor called her a liar and used a select assortment of insolent abuse. The lady paid the extra four bits. Those who saw the whole transaction say the conductor acted in a very ungentlemanly manner.

The vegetable garden at the Penitentiary near Salem is said to be the best in the State.

The Cull does not speak in flattering terms of Dr. Haskell's temperance lecture at Oakland.

E. N. Thomas is building a large addition to his grain warehouse near the depot in Jefferson.

A new bridge across the Santiam three miles above Jefferson, near Gray's ferry, is talked of.

Mr. A. L. Stinson informs the Record that a good deal of wheat is coming into Jefferson for shipment.

Jackson county boasts of a boy who measures six feet and two inches and is only fifteen years old.

The annual business meeting of the Marion County Bible Society was held last Saturday evening.

The Academy of Mary Immaculate at Dalles City will commence the first term of the scholastic year on August 24th.

We learn that harvesting is about over with in Wasco county. The crops are not quite as good as last year, yet they are a fair average.

David Walt and Wm. Hickey engaged in a drunken row near Lafayette on Friday night of last week, in which Walt was badly stabbed.

Gov. Grover has refused to grant an application for the pardon of Frank Starr, sent to the penitentiary from Yamhill county for larceny.

Henry I. Ankeny, the largest cheese maker in Marion county and Oregon, is now milking 135 cows and making 200 pounds of cheese daily.

Father L. B. Demers, the pastor of St. Peter's Church in the Dalles, will open a select school for boys on the 1st of September next.

Now comes Baker City and wants to be clothed with corporate powers, which means to have a Mayor, Common Council, Police Court, pay big taxes, etc.

The Chemeketa Hotel at Salem is hereafter to be in charge of Thos. Smith, who is well known as heretofore proprietor of the Umatilla House at the Dalles.

The Dallas Republican has ceased, and in its stead we are in receipt of the Dallas Reminder, published by Messrs. Casey & Hamilton. We wish the new paper success.

Our Hillsboro correspondent says the farmers are getting ready to ship their grain, as some have got through cutting. We presume they will have to haul to Portland.

A moneyed man from the East has concluded that Salem would be a good place to start a national bank and will recommend it to his business partners in Ohio.

The Faculty of the Willamette University, Salem, have appointed Thomas Condon, State Geologist, Lecturer on Geology, and F. S. Knight, Lecturer on Ornithology.

A company has been organized which proposes to build an oil mill on the farm of J. W. Nesmith, in Polk county. The mill will be ready to operate on next year's crop.

Mr. Vile of Hillsboro has invented a new washing machine which bids fair to beat any thing of the kind yet invented. He will exhibit it at the Washington County Fair.

The Library Association at Eugene, which started under such favorable auspices, has come to a standstill because some of the subscribers failed to pay up, says the Guard.

A private letter from the chief engineer of our steam engine, who is rusticating in the wilds of Tillamook, states that a great many persons from this valley are over there hunting, fishing, etc.

Two boys arrived at the Dalles Thursday from Umatilla county on horseback, leading a pack mule. They were seeking their fortunes. A telegram requested Sheriff Schutz to bring them back. He did so.

Large quantities of freight were shipped from the Dalles eastward last week. The reduction of freight charges by the O. S. N. Co. has had the effect to increase the volume of trade in that direction.

The work of repainting and otherwise improving the appearance of the Legislative Halls and the offices of the Secretary of State and Treasurer preparatory to the meeting of the Legislature is progressing and will soon be completed.

We can inform the Mountaineer that the story about short grass in Eastern Oregon was started by a paper published in that section and is duly credited. Had the Mountaineer been disposed to do justice it would have put the blame where it belongs.

The Corvallis Democrat learns that the residence of R. A. Jackson, on the south fork of Mary's river, was burned on the night of the 5th, together with everything in it. Loss about $800. The fire caught from some coals left in the fireplace in the evening.

Owing to the fact of the physicians of the State meeting in Salem on Tuesday, Sept. 1st, at 10 o'clock A. M., to organize a State Medical Society, the Third Judicial District Medical Society will meet on Monday, August 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M., in College Hall, Moore's block, Salem.

On last Sabbath the attendants of the M. E. Church South at Dallas organized a Sunday school with a goodly number of scholars. Following is the list of officers: Superintendent, Dr. Embree; Ass't Supt., W. McD. Lewis; Treas., Miss May Shelton; Sec. and Librarian, C. W. Teal.

The Baker City Herald of Aug. 12th says: C. M. Foster and W. F. McCrary returned last Friday from the headwaters of John Day river, whither they went to survey the proposed railroad line. Mr. McCrary says that although the line crosses over a rough country the route selected is available.

At the rich and extensive gold bearing quartz mines lately developed on Elk Creek, in Grant county, from a run of three days with an eight stamp mill three hundred pounds of amalgam was cleaned up. This when retorted would leave about two hundred and fifty pounds of gold.

Messrs. O. Dickinson, E. S. Knight, A. A. McCully, John F. McFarland and T. McF. Patton have been elected directors of the Alden Fruit Preserving Company of Salem. I. McF. Patton has been chosen President and O. J. Carr Secretary of the Company. Mr. Knight goes to California soon in the interest of the Company.

A young man by the name of John Hunter stole a horse and saddle from the ranch of Thomas Angel on Eight Mile Creek, Wasco county, on the 8th inst. He went over to the John Day river, where he sold the horse and took passage on the Overland Stage for Umatilla, where a telegram found him and he was locked up to await the arrival of Sheriff Schutz.

The following paragraph from a Washington county paper will interest a good many people in this latitude: The 2d Comptroller is said to have decided that the appropriation for the payment of the Oregon War Department of Oregon of 1855–56 is not a permanent specific appropriation, and that the unexpended balance went back into the Treasury on the 30th of June last.

The Salem Record of last Saturday says: The sequel to a fight mentioned on the 8th inst. took place night before last at Independence, at which time quite a number of persons participated in a free fight. Black eyes, bloody noses, etc., were in fashion. Yesterday several of the parties were brought before a magistrate. Neil Gage was fined $10 and costs. Geo. Sherwood and Wm. Fletcher were held to bail to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court to answer the charge of instigating and participating in a riot.

A gentleman who has just made the trip across the Cascade Mountains via the Barlow road reports it in good condition. An examination of the books kept at the Toll Bridge at Sandy river showed that up to August 12th 850 head of beef cattle had passed over the road for Portland this season. Also that there had passed from the Willamette Valley to Eastern Oregon about 3,000 head of sheep and 3,000 head of stock cattle.

Quite a number of logging camps are in operation on Smith river and the Umpqua, but it is thought that there will not be enough logs in the boom before the season closes to insure a winter run. Hinsdale's new mill is a model of neatness and perfection and is averaging 25,000 feet per day with a capacity of 30,000. The logs now used are principally fir and spruce, but there is talk among the mill men of making offers for sugar pine, which is abundant on the North Umpqua and could probably be delivered at Gardner for $15 per M.

On August 9th a Mr. Bayley and Mrs. Taylor, both of Scio, were married. Both the parties had been married before and had numerous families. This wedding was made the occasion of a grand time by the Scio Hook and Ladder Company, which turned out and treated the happy pair to an old-fashioned charivari. The boys became so exhilarated in the course of the performance, so our informant states, that they did not stop with serenading the newly wedded couple, but doused another man in the [illegible] Santiam. They adjourned with becoming ceremony at a very late hour.

The Salem Statesman gives the following particulars of a terrible tragedy which happened near Frank Cooper's coal mine, just across the line dividing Marion from Clackamas county and within about six miles of Silverton. The story, as told, is that Friday afternoon, the 14th inst., a man by the name of Murdock went to Silverton and procuring some whisky became very much intoxicated. Leaving Silverton about dark, he started home. Reaching his house, and being rendered crazy by the liquor he had drank, he started after his wife with the evident intention of killing her. She attempted to get out of his way, and going out of the house ran around it, her husband in hot pursuit. As Mr. Murdock was turning the corner of the house, still endeavoring to catch his wife, he was met by his son Robert, a man grown, who was armed with a club with which he struck his father. The blow fell upon the forehead and with such force as to mash the skull, killing the old man instantly. At the time our informant left Silverton no arrest had been made of the younger Murdock, nor had there been any steps taken in reference to the matter. The man who was killed was a very notorious character and perhaps he deserved no better fate, for his attempting to take the life of a woman and she his wife.

THE TERRITORIES

Studies at the Convent in Steilacoom will be resumed on the 17th inst.

A. P. Forbes was admitted, on Monday, by Judge Jacobs, to practice law in this territory.

Mr. Wilkinson, formerly ticket agent of the N. P. R. R. at Tacoma, but recently at Kalama, has been again transferred to Tacoma.

On the 13th inst., the passengers on the N. P. R. R. between Kalama and Tacoma saw Mt. Rainier [illegible] out volumes of smoke.

The [illegible] of Steilacoom are kept in fair order and the place looks well. The business of the town is going to be a flourishing one, and sufficient for the necessities of the people.

The Governor of Washington Territory has sent a telegraphic reprieve to Moos Moos, an Indian under sentence of death in Walla Walla, postponing the execution until the 18th inst.

The spire of the Swantown Seminary has been topped off with a weather vane of an unique and appropriate character. It is a gilded pen of the old-fashioned goose quill pattern.

Hon. O. B. McFadden has been very ill with inflammatory rheumatism. A dispatch to General Miller, of Olympia, of the 14th inst., says he is now slowly convalescing but can not yet leave his bed.

The lighthouse steamer Shubrick anchored another buoy on the "Middle Ground" in Steilacoom Bay last Tuesday, and made futile efforts to recover the buoy anchored there by her about one year ago.

Last week's news from Rocky Bar, Idaho, says that Mr. Newton, Superintendent of the Pittsburgh Company, has struck a rich body of ore in the Ada Elmore mine six feet wide. As most of this ore pays $100 per ton it is counted a big thing.

The U. S. steam lighthouse tender went into Tacoma harbor last week. The Tribune says the last two miles previous to landing at the railroad dock, taking in the water front of both old and new Tacoma, the lead was cast every few moments and a good bottom was reported at an average depth of from five to ten fathoms.

The preliminary organization of a Council of the "Sovereigns of Industry" was effected in Olympia last Wednesday night. This order has for its objects the same as those of the Patrons of Husbandry, but is composed of laboring classes generally, whereas the P. of H. only admit those who gain a livelihood by tilling the soil.

The Olympia Courier, of last Friday, says: Rain has fallen copiously during several days past. It will do a great amount of damage in the river bottom regions should it continue much longer, as harvesting has only just commenced in places mentioned. As it is, the labor of harvesting has been materially increased by breaking down of grain.

The contract between the Board of Thurston County Commissioners and the Olympia Railroad Union, providing for the issue of seventy-five thousand dollars county bonds, together with the bond and mortgage of said Olympia Railroad Union, as provided for by Act of Congress approved May 27th, 1874, have been duly executed and placed in hands of the Auditor with instructions to have the same recorded.

A Washington Territory paper contains pictorial cuts of Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton. To a close observer Mr. Beecher's picture has a strong family resemblance to that eminent philanthropist, Dr. Walker of Vinegar Bitters fame, and Mrs. Tilton's presentment might have been used with equal propriety instead of the young lady who usually presides over the advertising column heralding the unparalleled merits of Dr. Ayer's well known curatives.

The District Court for Pierce county was in session at Steilacoom during the last week and will continue through this week and perhaps next. The dockets are very large and contain more cases than were ever before the court at that place, and may be more than were ever before the court in any other place in the Territory. At the opening of the session there were 61 cases on the docket, of which 43 were civil, 10 equity and 8 criminal, and many new ones have been added since the beginning of the term.

The rabbits are playing the deuce with the farmers' grain on the south side of Boise river. W. I. Thurman has lost sixty acres of grain by these pests, and all the fields have suffered, and in some instances they are taking vegetables. The boys and men are shooting hundreds every day, but don't seem to thin them out in the least. The sage-brush adjoining the farms is a good hiding place, and as one travels along and scares them up he can see a hundred running at a time, and this is the case for miles up and down the river.

The Olympia Transcript says the farmers in Thurston county are busy harvesting and haying. Most of them are about done haying, although a few who cut large quantities have not finished. One farmer on Black river had 150 tons cut on Thursday when the heavy rain fell. On Boisfort, Lewis county, only a few farmers have begun cutting, although others were ready and would have begun but for the rain on Tuesday. They fear that the rain will knock down the grain and damage it. On the Chehalis at Black river and below the haying is over, and most of the farmers are cutting their wheat and oats. The crops of all kinds throughout the country were never better, and it is to be hoped they can all be harvested without injury.

Mr. P. T. Redsull, while on his way to Silver City with a four horse team Tuesday of last week, stopped near the summit, beyond Snake, at noon, to feed his team and then laid down to take a snooze. He had not lain very long before he was stung by a scorpion on the wrist just above the right hand. His arm began to swell up and pain him terribly, and in 10 minutes he was compelled to tear off his shirt sleeve. The stage came along about this time and took him in. When he came to the slough, two miles this side of Snake river, he fell sick and was unable to come farther. A flour sack full of the alkali mud was procured, and his arm placed in it. This soon eased him and reduced the swelling. He arrived at Boise City last Wednesday, keeping his arm all the way in a sack of this mud. The swelling was reduced, and the appearance is that he will recover, although he looks as if he had been very sick for several days.

We learn that Mr. W. H. Dodge has laid out his lands in Pacific county, Washington Territory, into convenient farms, which he is selling to working men at very low figures, and the best of it is that he has a contract to furnish the Willopa sawmill with ten million feet of saw-logs, which contract he took on purpose to enable him to furnish employment to those who buy lands of him, so that all who wish to can pay him for the lands in work. Mr. Dodge says: "No immigrant to this coast shall have to complain any longer that they 'can't find good, cheap lands and can't make the money here to buy a farm,' as they too often have done and went away disgusted." We admire this liberal spirit, and commend its example to our capitalists and land-owners as a means to procure and keep a worthy immigration to develop our resources. The contract for furnishing logs will occupy five years, and parties who wish to pay for land in work need not work for Mr. Dodge all the time, but can take a part in improving their lands.

FROM HONOLULU

Captain Gilman, of Astoria, favored us yesterday with a copy of the Honolulu Gazette of July 29th, from which we take the following:

The Australian steamer arrived at 5 P. M. yesterday twenty four days from Sydney with dates to July 4. She has had a very long passage. We find nothing encouraging to note in the Colonial markets. Brig Robert Cowan, Cluney, hence May 4, arrived at Sidney June 17th.

The barks Jane A. Falkinburg and Mattie Macleay are both loading for Portland, but cargo comes in very slowly.

American bark Edward James, Capt. Albert Wagner, is reported on the way from Hongkong to Honolulu, with a cargo of China goods.

The Hawaiian Legislature is debating the question of passing a bill to provide for borrowing [illegible] million dollars or less to supply deficiency in the revenue.

That the King's Cabinet is not as strong as it should be, has been felt to be a serious misfortune ever since the recent [illegible] two of the most valuable men in the Kingdom were forced to retire—men whose sterling character and integrity might, with the remaining members in the Cabinet, have added to the fame of Hawaii, and given her a position, a name and a credit, which could have enabled her to ask and borrow, at home and abroad, whatever sum she might wish.

The Australian and American mail steamship Macgregor, Captain Granger, arrived at her wharf July 28th, twenty-four days from Sidney. She brings as passengers for Honolulu Mr. Letham and Captain and Mrs. Marshall and family, with 71 saloon passengers for San Francisco, 18 in second cabin and 41 in the steerage—131 in all.

MRS. TILTON AND ANNA DICKINSON.—The New York Graphic says the name of Miss Anna Dickinson is now connected with the case. It seems that Mrs. Tilton, in conversation with Miss Dickinson, dilated at length upon the cruel and abusive treatment she experienced at the hands of her husband, and that she was desirous of procuring a divorce. The very next day Miss Dickinson received the following letter from Mrs. Tilton flatly contradicting what she had said:

My Dear Anna: I am afraid you may have gotten the impression last night from something I said that my love for Theodore has grown cold. If I conveyed the impression to you that Theodore was not the most gentle and loving of husbands, I wish to retract it, and ask you not to remember anything I may have said, or not to interpret it that I do not love my husband, and he me. We are devoted to each other. Affectionately yours,

ELIZABETH.

THE [illegible] ON LORD GORDON.—Fort Garry, Manitoba, August [illegible].—An inquest was held on Lord Gordon's remains yesterday. No money or [illegible] found on his person. Pentland, who boarded with him, professed to know nothing of his property. Gordon had at [illegible] $40,000 in notes and a large quantity of jewelry when he came here two years ago. Chief Justice Wood attended the inquest, and severely reprimanded the detective, who, it turns out, was acting in behalf of Gordon's bailsmen in New York, and also reprimanded the policemen who went to assist the detective and also the lawyer here by whose advice they acted. One of the warrants, at all events, was worthless, and the whole attempt looked like another kidnapping affair. It is thought the bondsmen will make an effort to get the body to New York.

THE SON OF HIS FATHER.—Fred Grant, like a good son, is proud of his father and of the many substantial proofs that have been given of his popularity in the shape of elegant gifts. The girls were just a little bored by his incessant mention of his father, and when Fred spoke of a magnificent sword and actually went to his room and reappeared with the sword strapped at his side, a young lady flew to the piano and commenced singing the song from La Grande Duchesse—"Voici le Sabre de mon Père." Of course Fred was much chagrined and left the room, while the girls joined in chorus.—Wateringplace Letter.

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 17 1874

THE SPANISH REPUBLIC.

For some time past intimations have been given out in various forms to the effect that the principal powers of Europe were contemplating a recognition of the Spanish Republic. And at last it is definitely announced that several of the powers have formally acted in the premises. Few persons in this country, we apprehend, but will be glad to see the efforts of the patriotic people of Spain thus far appreciated by their monarchical neighbors. It places them on a much better footing at home, to have a national character abroad. Why this recognition has been so long delayed has puzzled many. The Republic, it is true, was founded in a revolution, but not in a rebellion. There has been no other government of Spain since the abdication of Amadeus. The revolution which ushered in the Republic was not forcible but peaceable. The Republic quietly took the place of a monarchy which had voluntarily surrendered its license to exist. The Republic, it is true, has not shown itself to be remarkably strong or vigorous, but as the recognition of it could under no circumstances be construed as an act unfriendly to any other existing power, there was not the same reason for refusing to recognize it as a de facto government which can usually be urged against the claim of a new government to be accepted among the powers of the earth. The denial to the Spanish Republic of the position of a government, has been the denial of the existence of Spain as a nation, for there has been no other government of Spain for a long time. It is but tardy justice that is now beginning to be accorded by the European monarchies.

The matter should not stop with recognition. If ever there was a case that called for active intervention by foreign powers to settle the domestic troubles of a people it is now called for in behalf of Spain. There appears no possibility that anything can ever come of the Carlist insurrection, but bloodshed, and butchery and misery. It is not a war with an organized power, but the struggle of a feeble people to defend themselves against the continued descents of a daring and dashing adventurer. Carlism has become a crime against the moral sentiments of the civilized world, and the civilized world might well demand that it be stopped at once. This should be the next step after the recognition of the Republic. The timidity of Castelar, or the obstinacy of his successor, may serve well enough the purpose of those who seek to account for the failure of the Government to suppress the disorder and stop the butcheries of the Carlist mob, but neither of these furnishes a good excuse to the other Christian nations for permitting such shocking scenes to be enacted in their faces as have lately characterized the strife in Spain.

MORE EXTRAORDINARY PROCEEDINGS.

It will be time enough to pass an opinion upon the guilt or innocence of Mr Beecher when all the evidence is published which the Committee deem it proper to allow the public to see. We wish it distinctly understood, therefore, that we do not mean to imply an opinion adverse to the accused, when we say that from day to day the proceedings in the case present features more and more extraordinary. From the packing of the Committee down to the "cross-examination" of Beecher, there has been a patent purpose of making the case as favorable to Beecher and as unfavorable to Tilton as possible. In accordance with this purpose the Committee have been ready to hear everybody who had anything to tell tending to clear the great preacher or to injure his accuser, and have not scrupled to refuse to hear the testimony of witnesses who were known to be favorable to Tilton's side of the controversy. They have held secret sessions at Mr Beecher's own house, and have been closeted with him alone for hours at a time, and that too before his statement of his defense was made. Only to-day we are informed they have held further sittings at his private dwelling.

And then we have in his "cross-examination" the climax of all these remarkable proceedings. To call it a cross-examination is to name the performance what it resembles less than anything else that it could possibly be compared to. A cross-examination is supposed to be a means of ascertaining whether the witness has told the truth on his direct examination. It is a testing of his memory and a probing of his conscience. It is therefore in a measure adverse to the witness. It proposes not to lift him out of difficulties and help him explain away apparent contradictions of himself, but to bring out of him whatever of truth adverse to his case he may have been led through self interest to withhold in making his direct statement. But look at the first question in the "cross-examination" of Beecher reported this morning. When he was asked what he meant by certain suspicious passages in one of his letters, concerning Mrs. Tilton, he says flatly that he has no recollection and no idea what he did mean, offering his thousand times-repeated plea of emotional insanity as an excuse for the passage, when forthwith one of the Committee, or perhaps General Tracy, who appears to be the legal adviser of both Beecher and the Committee, suggests a plausible, though somewhat thin explanation, and asks the reverend gentleman in a manner that is half remonstrance and half supplication "wasn't that it now?" and "wasn't this the reason you wrote so" till he gets Beecher to say he thinks that must have been the way of it and then they carry out this little scheme to the end of the "cross-examination." When Tilton was undergoing his cross-examination he "gushed" a little calling himself a fool or something of that sort, and the occasion was immediately seized upon to ridicule him in the committee room, but throughout this whole "cross examination" of Beecher, that gentleman pours a continuous stream of the silliest and washiest trash that was ever met with outside of a lecture on "electro psychology," or some kindred subject and is received as graciously by the Committee as could be by Miss Gushington's own select circle. We repeat we do not wish to be understood as expressing the opinion that Beecher is guilty; but we have not the slightest objection to having it definitely understood that in our humble judgment the world will be abundantly justified if it conclude that the so-called Investigating Committee will balk at no indecency that may appear necessary to establish his innocence, if that be possible, and if that be not possible, then to whitewash him.

REVEREND H H SPAULDING.

Among the names of the real pioneers of Oregon, names connected with the earliest history of the settlement of this Northwest coast of America, none is more familiar to the intelligent reader than that of Rev H H Spaulding, whose death we announce this morning. He came to this coast from the State of New York in 1836, and was the friend and companion of the martyr Whitman, he establishing himself on the Lapwai, among the Nez Perces, while Whitman settled in the Walla Walla Valley to labor among the tribes that inhabited that region. At the time of the massacre of Dr Whitman, Mr Spaulding, having started on a journey to his friend's station on a visit connected with the interests of their common cause, was within a few miles of Whitman's place when he met intelligence of the massacre of the latter, together with all those attached to his post. He hastened back to Lapwai, ninety miles away, where his own family were in peril and soon after seeing that his position became daily more and more insecure, came to the Willamette Valley. He had then spent twelve years in diligent and patient labor for the civilization and Christianization of the Indians, had taught many of the children to read, and had translated very considerable portions of the Bible into the Nez Perces tongue. Not long after his settlement among the Nez Perces, probably about 1839, a small printing press was sent him by the missionaries of the Sandwich Islands, together with sufficient type for the limited requirements of his isolated situation. Readers of the OREGONIAN will recollect some specimen extracts from Bible translations into the Nez Perces language, which were published something over a year ago in these columns. They were from the translations by Spaulding, printed at that early day upon the press sent him from the Islands, the first printing press that reached this northwest coast. In 1848 the press and type were brought down to this valley, where they were used by Rev J S Griffin to print the second newspaper of the valley, at Hillsboro. Mr Griffin, who resides near Hillsboro at this time, still has this historic press and type in his possession.

Mr Spaulding remained in this valley most of the time from 1848 till about four years since when he returned to his labors among the Nez Perces under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, under whose auspices he continued to labor to the time of his death. He has been a noble, self-sacrificing, faithful laborer for the elevation of the Indians and among the tribe with which he worked, some six hundred have professed conversion under his teaching. Perhaps it is to his influence more than to any other single cause, that the Nez Perces are indebted for the distinction they enjoy of being regarded as the most intelligent, and the least savage, of all our Indian tribes. Amid the grateful remembrances of those who came in after him to enjoy the blessings his sacrifices purchased, he rests from his labors and his works do follow him.

A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In the local columns of this morning's paper appears a notice of a meeting to be held this evening, by the principal business men of the city to consider the propriety of organizing a Chamber of Commerce. It is to be hoped the gentlemen directly concerned will find sufficient grounds to believe the project feasible. An organization of this kind gives character and importance to the business of a city. Portland is a small place, so far as the number of its population is concerned, but its capital and its business surpass those of many cities possessing more than twice its population. It is thought by those most conversant with the subject that a Chamber of Commerce could be maintained here at present, and certainly if this is so the time has come for its organization, as the aggregate business of the city increases from year to year notwithstanding the dull times. Let our merchants and bankers take hold of the matter and see what can be accomplished.

The New York Graphic says, that among the current rumors respecting the Brooklyn scandal is one to the effect that Mr Beecher intends to retire from the ministry and assume the editorship of the new Republican paper about to be started in New York city. It says:

It is understood further that the managers of the new paper requested an interview with Mr Beecher a few days since in order to discuss this subject and that Mr Beecher gave them an interview at Peekskill when the matter was informally talked over and Mr Beecher now holds the matter under advisement.

SINGULAR PHENOMENON AT WASHOE LAKE.—A gentleman from Washoe valley informs us that during the past week the fish in Washoe Lake have nearly all—if not all—died. On the eastern shore of the lake is to be seen a regular windrow nearly a mile in length of dead fish. They are of all sizes from the smallest minnow up to fish a foot in length. Far out over the waters of the lake the fish are seen floating, belly up. Already a great stench arises from those that have been driven ashore on the eastern shore of the lake by the prevailing southwest winds. Why the fish should thus die by wholesale no one in the valley can conjecture. Even the oldest inhabitant is obliged to admit that the phenomenon is unprecedented. The lake is fully three feet higher than it was at this time last year and its waters never looked brighter or purer. No mills about the lake are running tailings or chemicals into it, nor can anything unusual or deleterious be discovered in or about it. It is supposed that all the fish in the lake are dead, as the pelican, gulls, and other fish-eating fowls which have abounded thereabout have suddenly left. Day before yesterday not a pelican or gull remained on or about the lake. The only explanation advanced by any of the settlers is that there has been an eructation of some kind of deleterious gas from the bottom of the lake.—Virginia (Nev) Enterprise July 25.

"Have you got a little Indian there?" asked the engineer, as we passed a young squaw with her pappoose standing at a depot on the Pacific railroad. "No," she replied. "Half Injun, half injuneer."

EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FRAUDS.—New York, Aug 6.—The Sun says Wall street was patrolled yesterday by a larger number of detectives than were ever before seen there at one time, except just after the Gray forgeries which cost the street $50 000. Inquiries at the Police Central office developed the fact that the patrol had been ordered by the Commissioners. A few days ago John B Morris and John T Denny, the former on behalf of the Stock Exchange and the latter in the name of the bankers and merchants generally, called on President Matsell and requested him to take additional precautions for the protection of the money interests. They said that in the existing stagnation of trade vast numbers of men were out of employment and ready for almost any deed of desperation. The Board of Commissioners unanimously resolved that a corps of detectives should be sent to patrol Wall street and other districts where banks are situated with orders to arrest all suspicious persons on sight.

ON TIME.—The lady telegraph operator at Moaweqna, Ill telegraphed that the passenger train due there at 1 o'clock had left on time. After performing this duty she immediately boarded the cars and eloped with a nice young man who parted his hair in the middle and wore a pink mustache. They rode gaily to Pana where the nuptial knot was drawn in a lovely bowknot and the happy pair returned on the next train. The newly made bride alighted from the cars and telegraphed the up train gone, thus making a bridal tour without missing a call.

Ohio is willing to take the contract for furnishing all the Presidential candidates that will be needed by the Democratic National Convention, and has already named Thurman, Pendleton, Governor Allen and Rufus P Raney. The political modesty of Ohio is proverbial.

CITY.

HIBERNIA SAVINGS AND LOAN TRUST CO.—The Savings and Loan Society, occupying the old British Columbia Bank building, has, we learn, been reorganized, under the name which heads this notice. A gentleman interested in the enterprise informs us that the stock has all been taken by old and established business men of the city, including many leading citizens of Irish descent. Such an institution will be of great benefit to the working classes, as the commercial banks of the city, though they stand as high as those of any section of the country, East or West, do not engage to receive and invest small sums, such as the surplus weekly or monthly earnings of laborers, as regular savings and loan societies do. The guaranty of the stockholders, and the character of the management of the new institution, we are assured, are such as to give perfect security to depositors, and to insure reasonable increase of sums deposited, large or small. Savings and loan societies are regarded as most useful and beneficent institutions, materially and morally considered. By their aggregation of small sums, previously scattered unused through many hands, the productive capital of a community is greatly increased, and this is generally followed by an advance in the price of real estate, increase of employment, and kindred advantages. By their moral influence upon the working classes, careful habits of expenditure and accumulation are formed, and the general industry, economy and morality of the community are promoted. These results have followed the establishment of savings and loan banks in California and elsewhere, and we presume our State will be no exception. In San Francisco the aggregate capital from savings is over $50,000,000; in the whole State of California over $90,000,000. We cannot say what might be the [illegible] scattered unproductive capital of Oregon or Portland and its vicinity, but doubtless there is, if aggregated and utilized, a considerable working capital.

The transfer of assets [illegible] the [illegible] Savings and Loan Trust Co. ([illegible]) is now being arranged without interruption to the business already established. In a few days we shall publish the names of the new Directors, with the changes that have been deemed necessary. The incorporators of the new bank are S. J. McCormick, P. J. Martin, John O'Connor, Joseph R. Wiley and John A. Bradley.

PASSENGERS COMING.—The steamer John L. Stephens sailed from San Francisco for Portland last Saturday. She brings the following passengers: Maj. H. Hampton and family, Paul Schulze, J. Lowenberg, wife and servant, Miss Oppenheimer, W. F. Osborne, L. Fier, Mi R. Sloss, L. C. Garwood, C. H. Schoeman, Geo. Hume, Jos. Hume, D. S. Gilbert and family, B. Conklaman, A. A. Cohn, J. A. Turner, Mrs. S. E. May and children, Dr. Steel, Lt. J. Halloran, U. S. A., P. Fila, J. G. Swain, Jos. Leroy, F. G. Ewald, Miss K. Yerndley, Miss C. H. Jolly, Miss M. Shed, S. Bamburger, A. Wolff, Dr. A. Pohl, J. Kaufman, J. Dittenhoffer, A. Richards, M. Canady, J. Ditz, Mrs. W. H. Watherbee, Mrs P. G. Morrell and child, L. A. Dougherty, Mrs. J. Barrett and two children, Rev. A. Atwood and family, Mrs. Geo. Green and three children, Capt. Bonnefield, F. N. Clark, J. W. Tilden and family, Miss Smith, Mrs. Dr. Bagley, Mrs. A. Hielbrow and four children, J. McInnis and wife.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES.—Last evening the anniversary exercises of the Foreign Missionary Society was held in the Taylor-street M. E. Church. The large audience room was densely packed by a very fashionable and cultivated audience. The exercises opened with singing by the choir and congregation. Following this came short but interesting addresses from Revs. J. B. Hill and Isaiah Wilson, and Bishop Merrill. The report of the Treasurer, Rev. John Flynn, was read, a collection was taken up and the audience was dismissed with the doxology and benediction.

OREGON LUMBER.—Some time since the fact was mentioned that one of the large saw mills of the city had received the contract, for furnishing a large proportion of the lumber necessary in the construction of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco; also, that a firm in Salem had been awarded the contract for furnishing the finishing material. On her present voyage, the bark Portland, now here, will carry hence 40,000 feet of oak lumber on the Salem contract, and also a large quantity of fir lumber from Weidler's mill.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.—A large number of the principal business men of the city have agreed to meet this evening, at 7½ o'clock, at Ankeny's Hall, to consider the subject of the organization of a Chamber of Commerce. The want of such an institution has long been felt, and it is gratifying to be able to chronicle the fact that steps are taking that look to such an organization.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.—There will be a meeting of the Multnomah County Woman's Suffrage Association at Good Templars' Hall, on Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. A pleasant time is anticipated, and the public are invited to attend.

DISTRICT COURT.—The U. S. District Court met on Saturday morning at the usual hour. The cause of Peter Werner et al. vs. bark Hermine, an action to recover wages, was called and consumed the greater part of the day in its investigation.

PERSONAL.

Inspector-General James Hardie is now in San Francisco.

Mr. Joseph Buchtel leaves this month on a trip to the States.

Rev. Miss Augusta Chapin left San Francisco for Boston on Saturday.

The San Francisco papers note the safe arrival in that city of Judge S. J. Field, from Oregon.

Lieutenant J. Halloran, well-known in this State, is among the passengers on board the J. L. Stephens.

Mr. A. J. Pinkstone, canvasser and agent for the S. F. Chronicle, is now in the city. He is on his annual tour of the northwest coast.

Mr. George A. Patterson, book-keeper at H. Hewitt & Co.'s, has returned from a trip to Europe, after an absence of several months.

A private letter has been received in Eugene City from Washington, dated August 2d, which states that Mrs. Senator Mitchell was then dangerously ill. Mrs. Mitchell's friends will regret to hear this news.

Messrs. W. B. Wilshire, R. B. Knapp and Tom Weeks left on Saturday morning for Clear Lake, Linn county. They are fully equipped for a campaign against the denizens of the forest. Frank Manciet accompanies the party as superintendent of the culinary department.

MILITARY NOTES.

Capt. Weeks, assigned to duty at Vancouver in place of Col. James, is expected to arrive about the last of the present month.

Col. James is closing up business as rapidly as possible, preparatory to turning over the Q. M. Depot of Supplies to his successor.

Lieut. E. W. Stone, Post Quartermaster at Walla Walla, is on a visit to Vancouver. The Lieutenant has been at Salem assisting Gen. Hardie in adjusting the Modoc war claims. He was acting Depot Quartermaster of supplies at Jacksonville during the Modoc war.

THE COURTS.

COUNTY COURT—WOODWARD, J.

SATURDAY, August 15th.

The British bark St. Patrick, at last accounts, was loading at Valparaiso for Oregon.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING.

Again it becomes our unpleasant duty to chronicle the death by accidental drowning of a man in the river opposite the city. Yesterday about 2 o'clock the ship carpenter of the bark Hermine, now in port, was drowned while out enjoying a sail. His name was Andrew Ogren, a Swede by birth, and aged 40 years. During the forenoon of yesterday Ogren took a small market boat belonging to the bark, and in company with several of the crew went out sailing. Before starting out, he placed a considerable quantity of rock in the bottom of the craft as ballast. After sailing up and down the river for some time Ogren returned to the Hermine for the purpose of allowing the mate and others of the crew to get on board, as it was dinner time. Ogren then started out to sail alone. When about 100 yards from the eastern shore, opposite the upper end of the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf, a sudden gust of wind capsized the boat. So heavily laden with ballast was the boat, that she sank almost instantly after filling. A number of persons from either shore saw the boat upset, and soon the wild cry of "a man in the river," was heard. In less time than it requires to tell, a dozen small boats put out from the shore, and were hastening with the utmost speed to the succor of the man. Just as the last part of the sail disappeared, Ogren was observed to cling to the top of the mast and go down. Unfortunately, the man could not swim a stroke. He struggled about in the water some little time, sank and rose to the surface several times, and then disappeared from sight. Grappling irons were procured and ropes, and dragging for the body and the boat commenced. After searching for half an hour or more the body was recovered, and also the sail-boat. The body was brought to the boat-house, and subsequently removed to the undertaker's. Coroner Wetmore was notified of the circumstance, and having caused a jury to be summoned, proceeded to hold an inquest. The jury, after hearing all the testimony, rendered the following

VERDICT.

We, the undersigned jurors, summoned to hold an inquest on the dead body of Andrew Ogren, having heard the testimony, do find that said Ogren came to his death by accidental drowning in the Willamette river, opposite the city of Portland, on the 16th day of August, 1874.

H. R. LEONARD, Foreman.

Ira Morrill, A. H. Lawrence, W. P. Wetmore, John Cresse, Adolph Nicolai.

Deceased was on his first voyage to this port. He was a very good workman, a valuable man on board the vessel, and was much esteemed by the officers and crew. He leaves a wife in Liverpool. The remains will be buried to-day.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Another case of drowning.

Seasiders returning and others going to fill their place.

M. E. Conference will convene this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The smoke stack of the Dixie Thompson was being repaired yesterday.

The German Aid Society will probably hold a fair during the winter months.

Prairie chickens are arriving in large numbers from the Dalles. They are very palatable.

A couple of runaways were "nipped in the bud" on Saturday, and this item is necessarily brief.

The old wooden engine house of Multnomah No. 2, is on the rollers for a more secluded locality.

The first lot of Shoalwater Bay oysters arrived on Saturday afternoon, for Hegele & Alisky.

A new morning paper is talked of. Who are the promising victims of misplaced confidence?

The great excitement of yesterday was the unfortunate drowning of the ship carpenter of the Hermine.

Nothing has been heard from Palmer and St. Clair, who effected an escape from the county jail on Thursday night.

The printers think of challenging the Arcadians. They could do better anyway than the crack players did last Saturday.

Wm. Carter, one of the craft, returned on Saturday from a hunting expedition down the Columbia. He brought two deer, etc.

A boy-driver named Jones was thrown from an express wagon on Saturday in consequence of colliding with a truck, and was severely injured.

On Saturday, in the U. S. District Court, Judge Deady took the case of the bark Hermine under advisement. He will render an opinion on Tuesday morning.

After transacting some necessary business on Saturday, the County Commissioners went down the river to view the route of the proposed road from the northern portion of the city to the Columbia county line.

THE STAGE.

Little Mac's Combination is the latest. They have minstrel designs on the towns around Humboldt Day, California.

Madame Bishop and troupe started last Friday morning for Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory, on a professional tour. Future movements of the company are unknown to us at present.

Elsewhere appears an announcement of the benefit to be given Mr. Fred. Gere, a member of the Portland Amateur Association. Quite a number of well known gentlemen have volunteered, and the programme, which will shortly appear, promises to be very attractive.

We understand that Mrs. Marriner, the beautiful and accomplished singer, who took a benefit at Masonic Hall on Thursday evening last, prior to her departure for California, intends forming a joint stock company of star musicians this fall and bring them to this city for a brief season.

"Jeems Pipes, of Pipesville," (Stephen Massett) has at length shaken California dust from his soles. He has finally departed from the Golden State and is now on his way to Europe, for which fortunate circumstance we presume a large cloud of non-admirers will draw a long breath of relief. His artistic career in America has extended over thirty-one years, and he is now going to rusticate among the scenes of his earlier days.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

The Pioneers will hold a special meeting this evening. A full attendance is desired.

A base ball club has been organized at New Tacoma, W. T. They play on the 20th, the winning nine to be called the "Tacoma Invincibles."

The series of games between the Crescents, of this city, and Athletics, of East Portland, came to a close on Saturday by the former winning. Score, 38 to 12. The Athletics were blanked six times.

About 150 persons, including a number of ladies, assembled at the East Portland grounds on Saturday, in expectation of witnessing a first-class game of base ball. They were woefully disappointed. It was the worst exhibition of playing ever seen on any grounds in this vicinity. Unless the game is played with better spirit by the same contestants in future, there will be less interest taken in it. The least said about the game the better. We want it distinctly understood that we do not propose to meddle in the quarrels existing between the prominent base ball players in this city. Look at the score and judge:

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Duck Loung & Son, importers and wholesale dealers in tea, sugar, rice and Chinese provisions, publish their card elsewhere.

A. S. Gross has $15,000 to loan on real and personal security, at one per cent per month. He also advertises Eastern and Shoalwater Bay oysters at wholesale.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

We have received complimentary cards of invitation to a social dance, under the auspices of the Arcadian Base Ball Club, at City Rifles' Hall, on Thursday evening. We shall have further particulars in a day or so.

The department of Indian relics in the Museum is not to be excelled in any museum in America.

For Fine and Artistic Photographs go to Buchtel & Stolte, 91 and 93 First Street, the only First Class Gallery in the State.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Twenty-first Annual Conference.

Fourth Day.

Conference met pursuant to adjournment. Divine service was conducted by Rev. H. K. Hines by reading the 4th chapter of II. Corinthians, singing the 20th hymn and prayer.

The Bishop stated that the calling of the roll would be dispensed with.

Minutes of the previous day were read and approved.

The Bishop announced that he had before him papers preferring charges against other members of the Conference.

Mr. Shaw moved that the bill of charges preferred against Rev. Wm. McPheeters be first taken up. Carried.

Pending this motion some discussion arose as to the expediency of considering the charges at that time, in which Revs. Driver, Shaw, McPheeters, Spaulding, Roork and Parrish participated.

Mr. Woodard moved, and it was carried, that the consideration of the charges be referred to a select committee consisting of Revs. J. S. McCain, J. W. York, H. C. Jenkins, J. T. Wolf, D. L. Spaulding, A. C. Fairchild, N. Doane, J. H. Roork and T. F. Royal.

The Bishop appointed as Chairman of the committee C. W. Todd.

Rev. L. J. Powell was chosen Secretary of the committee.

The Bishop appointed as counsel to represent the Conference Revs. S. D. Mann and John Flynn.

Mr. McPheeters gave notice that he did not desire any appointed counsel. He could act as his own attorney, and if the case proved too heavy for him he could call in an associate.

Considerable discussion arose here as to whether the committee should retire at once and commence the necessary investigations. At length, by request of the Chairman, C. W. Todd, the committee was allowed to retire for a specific time—one hour.

The third question was then taken: "Who remains on trial?" The name of E. D. Curtis was called. Mr. Curtis had not been before the Committee. He was called in person and stated to the Conference that he had not been before the Committee, but desired to explain why he had not appeared. He stated that he was not prepared to be examined this year and asked to have his examination continued until the next Conference. His character and qualifications were reviewed at some length, and on motion of Mr. Woodard, the case was continued.

Leave of absence was granted Rev. C. G. Roe, for the day.

The character of J. W. VanCleave was next taken up. Some irregularities were reported in his case. He had passed a satisfactory examination before the Presiding Elder, but was now East. Transferred to the second question.

The fourth question was taken up: "Who are admitted to full connection?" The names of Isaiah Wilson and J. W. VanCleave were called. Mr. Wilson being present, came forward, and having answered the usual questions propounded by the Bishop was admitted into full connection.

The Bishop then proceeded to address the Conference at great length, and in a very eloquent and entertaining manner, in relation to the privileges, responsibilities and duties of the ministry.

The case of J. W. VanCleave next came up. After some discussion, the report of the Presiding Elder, Rev. S. H. Todd, as to his examination and qualifications, was accepted and he continued on trial.

The eighth question: "Who are the supernumerary ministers?" was next considered. The name of J. L. Parrish was called. Continued in the same relation.

By permission of the Conference, Rev. J. W. Miller was allowed to make some personal explanations in reference to conversations alleged to have taken place between certain persons and himself during the progress of the trial of Rev. J. F. DeVore, and also permitted to call Rev. J. H. Allyn in substantiation of what he said.

Rev. J. F. DeVore was also allowed to make some personal explanations.

The Doxology was sung, benediction pronounced, and Conference adjourned until Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

COAL PROSPECTS IN W. T.

Mr. L. W. Felton, who has just returned from across the Columbia, furnishes the following items about coal and coal mining in our sister Territory:

Those adventurous spirits who discovered the anthracite coal mine near Mt. Rainier, started out on Wednesday for another trial in the same vicinity, to be gone a month.

The Company have ten men at work on the Skookum Chuck coal mine, which is two miles from Tenino, forty two from Tacoma and seventeen from Olympia, where the Company has its office. This vein is said to be about twenty feet thick from the upper strata to the base, but there are streaks of gray sand which divide the layers of coal which is expected, when they get well in, to be similar to the usual quality of the soft coal of this slope.

Still another prospect for coal is being opened by, or under, the supervision of Mr. Cavendish with four men. This is termed the Chehalis mine, and is located one and one-fourth miles northeast of Chehalis Station on the North Pacific Railroad, which is 50 miles from Kalama and 55 miles from Tacoma. The workmen at present are engaged on the face of a vein or deposit, or are in a few feet from the surface of the deposit, with a view to test the quality by using a few tons of the best. From the upper layer to the bed-rock the whole is 24 feet. The lower strata eight feet, judging from personal inspection, is best of any in the lot; then there is a few inches sand stone, then coal and some slate. The layers are thinnest near the top. It has a dip of 35° to the northeast, is 300 feet above the level of the railroad, and if it does prove of superior quality, and as the miners get well in, it becomes more solid, notwithstanding its distance from port or harbor, it might become of practical value. If found practical to work it, so as to ship to market, its location is nearer Portland than any mine that would supply coal. With an over supply from other mines and at barely living prices, with the large shipments of a better grade coal from Australia at almost nominal figures in lieu of ballast, and with the abundance of other fuel, the encouragement for opening new mines of soft coal, are certainly not promising.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE'S ESTATE.—The estate of Chief Justice Chase, settlement of which has been slow, owing to a disinclination of the executor to sell his stocks and other personal property during the period of depression, will amount, when all his debts are paid, to about $105,000. Some of the securities, including 100 shares in the Pennsylvania-street railway, have just been sold to pay small creditors who were pressing. The estate owes Jay Cooke & Co. $121,000, mostly advanced on stocks, and Mrs. Hoyt, Judge Chase's daughter, $5,000.—Philadelphia Press.

In these times, when men count their coin before expending any considerable sum, it is conclusive evidence that money is decidedly scarce, and a man is calculating on the best and surest mode of making the most of what spare change he has. Now, in buying clothing the buyer reflects before making a purchase. He wants to know where, by expending the least money, he can at the same time receive something fully worth the money expended. We would advise all in want of something substantial as well as cheap to call on Beck & Waldman.

I have removed opposite my old Stand and will continue to offer Crockery, Glassware, etc., AT COST.

Now is the accepted time.

TO PLEASURE SEEKERS.

Parties leaving the city for a season of pleasure should recollect Oysterville, where Mrs CARUTHERS at her cozy hotel, will look after wants of visitors.

AT KOHN'S.

That pioneer Clothier, J. Kohn, opposite National Bank, is affording his numerous patrons an excellent opportunity to buy Summer Suits, Underwear, Furnishing Goods. The dull times demand a reduction in the prices heretofore asked, and he is giving his customers the benefit of a decided reduction made at his place. There is no buncombe about it. What he says he will do. Take advantage of the present opportunity. Note the location.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Says our Empire City correspondent under date of August 12th:

Coal shipments past week, 700 tons; lumber, 550 M feet.

Luse's steamer for the slough trade is approaching completion.

The new church bell has arrived, and will be put up as soon as possible.

Mr. Henry Barrett's son, who was so severely injured a few weeks ago, is recovering.

The steamer Empire arrived on the 8th inst. with eighteen passengers and a light freight.

The brig Sheet Anchor has changed hands. She will continue in the trade between the Bay and San Francisco.

As a summer resort Coos Bay ranks with the best in the State. Trout fishing is now in order. Come this way, ye denizens of the metropolis.

Arrived since the 4th inst.: Steamer Empire; schooners Arago, Golden, Elnorah and Parallel. Sailed—Schooners Alaska, Norway, Aurora, Big River, and brigs J. B. Ford and Sheet Anchor.

The new two-masted schooner Frietchoff was launched last Saturday at Marshfield. This trim vessel is the property of Captain Olaf Mattson, who superintended her construction. She will be completed this month.

HOW A GREAT SCANDAL WAS DEALT WITH SEVENTY YEARS AGO.

About seventy years ago there lived in this country a very great man. His name was Alexander Hamilton. He had been a distinguished officer of the Revolution and was the trusted friend and counselor of the illustrious Washington. On the organization of the Government, Hamilton became a leader of a great political party, and was appointed the first Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. He was the ablest man that ever filled that office. As a party leader at a time of fierce political excitements, Mr. Hamilton was the shining mark of many bitter assaults. His own party were not slow or moderate in their counter attacks. Mr. Jefferson was the target of the Federal or Hambletonian diatribes. His private life, too, was overhauled, and his every act distorted into something criminal or immoral. There were no limits to this sort of abuse on both sides. At last the Jeffersonians lighted upon a precious piece of scandal against Mr. Hamilton, which did not even need coloring or exaggeration to render it excessively distasteful to his friends and damaging to his reputation.

The story ran thus: A buxom and attractive woman had visited the young and susceptible Secretary of the Treasury, and under pretext of seeking some favor of him had captivated and seduced him from the paths of duty and morality. An amour of a somewhat extended and complicated character had grown out of the affair, which had gone far enough, however, to expose the character of the woman as an adventuress and blackmailer of the most avaricious nature. Finally a convenient husband was introduced into the drama, an illiterate and vulgar fellow, who attempted the panel game on the great Secretary. Nothing but an office in the Treasury or $50,000 in cash would solace the wounds of his honor and connubial felicity which were inflicted by Hamilton.

That great man resisted, and defied the arts and importunities of both the woman and her suppositious husband. Thereupon they sold their valuable scandal to the enemies of Mr. Hamilton, who were not slow in laying the whole affair before the world. The friends of Hamilton denied the story at first, but were quickly silenced by the amazing courage and honesty of his answer.

Freely admitting that he had strayed from the path of duty, and had grievously sinned as a father and husband under the wiles and seducing arts of a voluptuous woman, he indignantly repelled all aspersions upon his honor as a public official and gentleman. For his sin, of which he had deeply repented, he asked the indulgence of his fellow-citizens, but if he had permitted himself to be misled by any arts or influence to a betrayal of the high trust confided to him, he should feel that he had no right to ask their forgiveness or indulgence.

It is a curious fact in our political and social history that Mr. Hamilton's manly answer completely disarmed the public censure, and he continued, until his unhappy death, the idol of his party, and the most admired and respected political chieftain of the era.—Picayune.

COOL ALL AROUND.

A gentleman of our acquaintance, aged about 50, took the cars for a long ride. He secured a good seat in a not crowded car, and put therein his bag and other conveniences. After some hours he left his seat for refreshments, leaving ample evidence therein of its occupancy. On returning to the train, he found a highly finished woman sitting in his place, and in the midst of what Western people would call his plunder. He paused at the entrance, and looked wistfully at the woman.

"Do you wish anything, sir?"

"Yes, madam, my carpet-bag, if you please. Thank you!"

He still waited and looked.

"Is there anything else, sir?"

"Yes, Madame, my umbrella, if you please. Ah—thank you."

Still waiting in a respectful attitude, the lady grew restless.

"Is there anything more?"

"Yes, madame, I will take my cane, and the papers which I fear you are sitting upon."

These were hastily offered, and as the gentleman still stood respectfully at the entrance, she turned upon him, with some emphasis:

"Well, sir, what else are you waiting for?"

"Madame, I was waiting to hear you say, 'Thank you for the seat!'"

Travelers' Testimony.

Thousands of travelers by land and sea have vouched for the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a preventive of the physical disturbances which ordinarily arise from change of climate and the changes of diet, water, &c., incident to a wandering life. Upon systems toned, invigorated and regulated by this genial vegetable antidote the external causes of debility and disease seem to produce little or no effect. Forearmed with Hostetter's Bitters, the voyager may bid defiance to seasickness and encounter the chilling fogs of the British Isles, the coast winds of the Antilles, the icy temperature of northern Alaska, or the burning heat of the tropics, with equal impunity. The effect of this admirable medicated stimulant is greatly to increase the vital energy of the system, thereby enabling it to resist and repel the exciting causes of disease.

A CONSTANT COUGH, with Shortness of Breath, Failing Strength, and Wasting of Flesh, all betoken Lungs more or less seriously affected, and demanding prompt treatment. By using Dr. Jayne's Expectorant serious results may be either avoided or palliated.

A BOY'S VACATION

LITTLE BEN SPINNER DON'T LIKE THE KENTUCKY STYLE OF THE ARTICLE.

[From the Louisville Courier-Journal.]

If there is a thing which at first I thought I would be glad of it and am now dreadful sorry for, it is because school is out for keeps till the next term. It is most usually the way that when school don't keep there is plenty of work studied up for me to have to do. That's the way it hits me every time. It's my kind of bad luck to be raised to have industrious ways. My father is everlastingly telling me that idleness is the parents of vice, or some of that sort of disagreeable English language that I don't want to hear, and that I must keep busy at work at something, and not gad about with other indolent boys, and race the streets from morning till night perpetual. Last vacation they put me into the garden, where, they said, I could obtain some habits which would do me some good when I became grown up into a useful citizen. Well, to have to be a useful citizen is all very fine silk but, if I could only have my own way only just once, I would [illegible] be a [illegible] on the railroad. But they have got me in the same har[illegible] which I was into last summer, only it is rougher because [illegible] of it. If they think it's proper for me to have to bug the potatoes, and weed the onions, and thin out the rhubarb, and raise up a lot of garden trash for to go to seed and waste, why then, I suppose it's all right if I could only see it, but when a boy has studied diligent all winter, I don't think it's exactly the fair thing to keep him too tenacious at work in vacation. Anyhow that's my opinion, which I throw in. There ain't a very great deal of real pleasure in bugging potatoes where the bugs is about a barrel full to the acre, and when a boy has to bend his back down to try to pull up weeds which grow clean though and clinch on the other side, it's a kind of miserable occupation which I would like to get half a good chance for to slip out of. To have to wade into the garden early in the morning when the dew is on in your bare feet, and get smart weed up your trouser's leg, is a worse thing than the Erie Siplis, or the fever and ague but when you have to do it, there is no use for to try to shirk out. I went back on the job once, but I never went back on it twice, because once was enough. I was roped in and coaxed by some boys to go off on the commons to play ball for a whole day. Late in the evening when I came in home the back way and desperate hungry, the governor gave me an abundance of stars and stripes, which I have got them yet, and could show 'em if I was only in a swimming. I found out that it is a bad habit for a boy to get into to shake his work without permission and it's the best way always for to obey orders if it almost breaks your back. But I have got awful sick of this vacation business, and if I can find a school next year which will keep in the year round, it's the one that I want to go to. That's what kind of a hairpin I am.

THE PERSEVERANCE OF HACKMEN

A tall portly dignified citizen of the Quaker persuasion, well known in Philadelphia, arrived in New York, the other day and having no baggage but a light traveling satchel was utterly oblivious to the appeals of the hackmen as he emerged from the railway station.

"F[illegible] avenoo hotel! Fifth avenoo—go-an up! Fifth avenoo?"

Broadbrim stalked right on without a word. Another knight of the whip charged down upon him.

"Say Nicholas hotel! Say Nicholas hotel coach? This way for the S Nicholas!"

No response from the passenger, and not a muscle moved at the appeal. Then there was a rush of half a dozen.

"Kerridge sir, kerridge? Wanter ride up?"

"Winsur house. Whose going up to the Winsur?"

Astor house, sir?

Breevoort house? Breevoort? — Metropolitan hotel?" "Right down Broadway!" — "Ere you are, kerridge, sir!"

The traveler loomed up like a ten pin among vinegar cruets, and face as placid as a pan of milk, was calmly and silently moving away from the crowd of jarvies, who looked after him with something like amazement, when a sudden thought seemed to strike one who running after him, seized hold of one of the handles of his traveling bag—

"Deaf and Dumb Asylum, sir? Going right up?"

This was too much. Dignity relaxed into a laugh, and then the driver got a fare for a down town hotel.—Boston Bulletin.

GRANDILOQUENT JUSTICE

"Margaret Graham, why is this thus?" asked his honor as an aged woman stood at the bar.

"I couldn't help it, sir," she sadly said, folding her hands and dropping her eyes.

"I see gray hairs, wrinkles of age, and signs that you are slowly drifting into the grave," he continued, "and yet you get drunk and hurrah for Gen Jackson, and rouse the neighbors from their beds."

"Please sir it was a small drunk," she explained.

"And yet you have been here before, and I have let mercy overpower justice. I am ashamed, Margaret, to think that, in this nineteenth century of civilization, a woman forty four years old should be brought in here charged with drunkenness."

"I'll do better, sir."

"I hope so, Margaret, I hope you will dash the cup from you and take a solemn vow never to drink anything stronger than river water after this."

"I will sir."

"And, though the bloom of youth may not return to your faded cheek, you will feel young again in spirit, and life will seem to you like a grand picnic at Belle Isle with frosted cake piled up ten feet high. One further remark and I am done—I shall send you up for ninety days."—Detroit Free Press.

BIBLICAL COMPARISONS.—The mania for biblical comparisons seems to have broken out to an unusual extent since the recent publication of the Republican Congressional address, which was full of them. On Wednesday last the New York Tribune said that Beecher "preached in the most famous pulpit the world has ever seen since Paul preached on the Hill of Mars." On Friday it said that the discovery of chloroform was the greatest boon to suffering humanity since the stars shone over Bethlehem. Now, why not carry out this sort of thing all through? Lydia Thompson is the most remarkable dancer since the time that the daughter of Herodias danced before Herod, and was rewarded with the head of the Baptist. The horse Dexter surpasses any specimen of its kind since the Apocalyptic horse. The wine at last night's feast was the best that has been served since the marriage in Cana of Galilee. The falsehoods exposed by Parton are the most appalling known since the days of Ananias and Sapphira. The recent hurricane reminds us of the tempestuous wind called Euroclydon, mentioned in the Acts of the Apostles. The mourning over the lost child in Philadelphia [illegible] the lamentation heard in Ramah over the lost children. The removal of Collector Casey would be a more wonderful thing than has taken place in that line since the removal of Levi, the son of Alpheus, sitting at the receipt of customs. But those who are fond of scriptural comparisons should see that there is some sort of sense in such as they make.—Cincinnati Commercial.

THE TICHBORNE CLAIMANT.—The Tichborne claimant will arrive at Dartmoor convict establishment shortly but as he will be placed with the tailoring gang, in which occupation he is being instructed, visitors will only be able to see him during the exercising half hour. Bidwell the Bank of England forger, is at Dartmoor and seems in a very complacent frame of mind. So, also, is Captain Dashwood, who [illegible] so many tradesmen by daringly perso[illegible] the Duke of St Albans. His term will [illegible] expire having been lessened by his good be[illegible] although his artfulness has necessitated incessant watching. Lately a discharged convict was taken away by his father a wealthy merchant, in a carriage and four horses. He was originally convicted of forging his father's name, the father being the nominal and unwilling prosecutor. The convicts have just completed an extensive and massively-built new wing fitted with every appliance for safety and convenience which ingenuity and experience could suggest. The cells are twice as large as the old ones. For the army of convicts now at Dartmoor 3,000 loaves are baked daily.

A small tablet has been placed over Senator Sumner's grave at Mount Auburn, bearing this inscription: "Charles Sumner born January 6, 1811. Died March 11, 1874."

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco, 11s 2d@11s 5d for average California and 11s 7d@12s 3d for club.

The calendar week closes with but little of noteworthy importance occurring in local monetary circles. The demand for loans has slightly increased but is yet supplied quite readily at reduced rates. It is fully expected that next week will witness more activity in trade circles and a better condition of affairs financially be inaugurated. While the supply of funds is ample, it is in a great measure idle and with a rapid movement of the crops much of this dormant capital would find its way into general circulation and give a tone of much more apparent ease to the market than now exists.

It is reported that arrangements have been effected with a number of [illegible] will come to this port to load wheat under charter to the Grangers, the ship owners making an advance on the signing of the bills of lading. Should this enterprise succeed and seven of the vessels are now said to be on the way here we may expect more activity along our wharves than has been seen for some time.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship John L. Stephens from San Francisco will be due here Tuesday next.

The [illegible] Garibaldi, Moonbeam and Hermine still lie at Flanders' wharf awaiting cargoes.

The barkentine Portland is taking on lumber at the East Portland wharf.

The Emelah and Ida F Taylor are both at some point down the river.

The bark Melancthon is down the river completing her cargo with salmon lumber etc.

The schooner Dreadnaught is receiving lumber at Cementville for San Francisco.

The bark Ida F Taylor will go to Cementville and load with lumber for San Francisco.

The barks Jane A Falkinburg and Mattie Macleay were both loading at Honolulu, for Portland July 29th. Cargoes came in slowly.

The bark Rival the Free Trade and one or two other coasting vessels are fully due from San Francisco.

A large vessel was reported off the bar this afternoon.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO August 15.—Flour—Golden Gate extra, $6 25.

Wheat—For new wheat, $1 50; for old wheat choice Santa Clara $1 60. Shippers continue to offer $1 65@1 57½ for best samples.

Barley—$1 10@1 15.

Oats—Inferior $1 30; fair to choice lots $1 50@1 60.

Hay—Fair wheat $12 50; choice lots $15@16.

Seed Potatoes—Market presents no change.

Dairy Products—Fresh roll butter 35@37c; cheese 10@14½c ₱ lb; eggs 37½@40c ₱ dozen for fresh California.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—This cereal of the new crop is coming in very slowly for sale. Buyers do not seem to urge the market although there are now in the river five foreign bound vessels supposed to have come here seeking cargoes of wheat and four of them under charter prior to arrival. A few sales have been effected during the week, at $1 45 per cental, and we may expect [illegible] ere long if exporters are to make a concession of the difference which now exists between them and holders, but if the latter are to give way, trade may be dull for some time. None of the vessels here have yet begun to load.

FLOUR—The stocks are small but owing to a diminished demand for shipping caused by the incoming of the product of the new wheat in California, the requirements of the trade here are easily met. A good article of extra is in fair supply jobbing at $5@5 25 ₱ bbl but a few brands of standard qualities are held at $5 50. Common country make is in the market in fair quantities for the season at $4 75@5, fine to superfine, quotable at $4@4 50.

OATS—The market is inactive in this cereal and receipts are falling off, the shipping demand being rather duller. The quotations furnished are 37½@40c ₱ bushel. The new crop is everywhere reported as yielding well and prices are more likely to depreciate than advance. The local demand is well supplied from the stocks on hand and current receipts.

BARLEY—But very few transactions are noted and these mostly to supply the local demand for brewing. Best lots are worth $1 45@1 50 ₱ cwt including sacks, inferior $1 25@1 40 for feed.

FEED—The stocks on hand here are quite small compared with former periods in the season but are still adequate to the current demand which is almost entirely local, and, as always, light at this time in the summer. Sales are slow at the current rates which are $17 ₱ ton for bran, shorts $17@16, chopped middlings, etc $20.

HAY—There is a great abundance of the new crop of timothy offering at $10@11 ₱ ton baled or $8 50@9 for loose from wagons. The demand except for local consumption, is very dull.

POTATOES—There is no lack either in quantity or variety of the new [illegible] coming to hand. Prices range from 37½@[illegible]

ONIONS—Choice [illegible] of the new crop command 2 cents ₱ lb, but [illegible] or less are quotable at 1½ cents. The receipts are li[illegible]

DRIED FRUIT—The demand for apples is somewhat brisk and prices have slightly advanced. We quote sliced in [illegible] 7c ₱ lb in kegs 7½. Plums without pits, 13@14c with pits 6c and dull.

BACON—This article is scarce in the market. [illegible] sell 12 cents, hams, 15@16c, shoulders 9@10c. Sides meats are in [illegible] request at 13@14c. The receipts of the past few days have hardly been up to average.

LARD—A fair article is in good demand at 15c ₱ lb, either in kegs or tins.

BUTTER—The market is fairly supplied, and prices for such as is commonly shipped range from 18@22c ₱ lb. The best brought to market is used in the local trade, and when not delivered on contract is quotable at 25@30c.

CHEESE—The trade is quiet and the demand well supplied at our former quotations.

EGGS—For a long time San Francisco has been receiving her supplies of this article largely from the East, but recently that trade has received a back set in the way of large lots in such miserable condition as to prove a serious loss to shippers. Hence the demand for Oregon eggs is much improved. Our market is quotable firm at 28 cents ₱ dozen.

CHICKENS—The receipts of the past five days have been larger and prices are a little weaker, choice lots of grown selling at $4 and spring at $2 75@3 ₱ dozen. Ducks same $5@6.

FRESH MEATS—We quote choice young steers on foot at 5@6c ₱ lb; common lots 4@5c. Most of the arrivals now are in excellent condition. Mutton sheep per head quotable at $2 25@2 75. Dressed hogs nominal at 6@7c. Demand not active.

HIDES—Choice dry quotable at 15@16c ₱ lb; green 6@7½c; culls 11@11½c. The shipments and receipts are large.

WOOL—There are no transactions worthy of note now occurring though occasionally a remnant of the spring clip reaches the market and if of prime quality and in good condition sells readily at current rates which are 26@28 cents.

General Merchandise.

PAINTS—We quote market in jobbing lots for Averill's chemical ₱ gal $[illegible]; Atlantic 13@14; Bartlett, 11@12; North River 11; Greenback 10½; Wm Brown & Sons 13; French Zinc white 16; Devoe's Zinc white 12; lampblack Eddy's 50@60; Germantown 4@5; ordinary Venetian red 6@8; Havre Ocre, 6@7; red lead, 12½@13; Litharge 13@14; fire proof 6@6 cents.

RICE—The supplies are not excessive and jobbers receive through the San Francisco market quotable China, 6½@7c; Patna 7½c; Island 8@8½c. No Carolina in market.

SALERATUS—Barton's 9@9½c; Donnelly's 9@10c; Babbitts, 10@10½c.
